Pharmako Biotechnologies

Pharmako Biotechnologies specialises in the development and manufacture of advanced delivery systems for poorly absorbed active ingredients. Our proprietary technologies significantly enhance bioavailability and improve the functional performance of these ingredients across the nutraceutical, cosmeceutical, and functional food sectors. With a strong emphasis on scientific validation and high-quality in-house manufacturing, Pharmako empowers partners to deliver superior health outcomes through effective, evidence-based solutions. We are committed to staying ahead of consumer trends—particularly in the wellness and longevity space—by offering tailored, innovative formulations that meet evolving market demands.
